Hi! I'm K and I'm the owner of OMBTS! I'm a (late) twenty-something who is currently working in the Midwestern USA! I've spent most of my post-grad years underemployed, but in the past few years I've finally got a little closer to college graduate wages. I'm passionate about continuing to improve my financial situation while not sacrificing fun, friends, and new experiences! Currently working towards a cash vacation, paying off credit cards, and automotive loans!

One More BROKE TWENTY-SOMETHING (OMBTS)

is the blog for twenty-somethings who just don't know what's next when it comes to managing their money! Join me as I take on this challenge of becoming debt-free, clutter-free, to find more peace of mind and let's see what happens along the way.
